

Manifesto for Women's Rights in Scotland

This Manifesto reaffirms women's sex-based human rights which the Scottish Government must honour. These rights are enshrined in the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Women 1979, the European Convention on Human Rights and Freedoms 1950 and in the UK Equality Act 2010.

#WOMENSMANIFESTOScotland

We must all work to secure women's rights in Law, Policy and Practice

These are the areas of greatest concern to women and girls in Scotland:

- Safety and Privacy
- Freedom of Speech and Association
- Health and Bodily Autonomy
- Fairness in Sport
- Accurate Data on the basis of Sex
- Freedom from Male Violence and Exploitation
